TANJUNG MALIM: Technical and Vocational Education and Training (TVET) graduates must go beyond mastering technical skills and be equipped to harness artificial intelligence (AI), drive innovation and build their own businesses.

Deputy Prime Minister Datuk Seri Dr Ahmad Zahid Hamidi said this would be driven by three priorities aimed at taking TVET graduates further in skills mastery, innovation and entrepreneurship.

"Mastery of AI, data and digital technology must become a core competency of graduates.

"This mastery must be accompanied by the ability to solve problems, communicate and make ethical judgements.

"We want graduates to know how to use technology effectively while remaining courteous and responsible," he said in his speech at the Central Zone Polytechnic and Community College Convocation Ceremony at Universiti Pendidikan Sultan Idris here today.

TANJUNG MALIM: Technical and vocational education and training (TVET) graduates must focus on three key areas to stay ahead in a rapidly changing world, says Datuk Seri Dr Ahmad Zahid Hamidi.

The Deputy Prime Minister said the three areas—mastering artificial intelligence (AI), data and digital technology, strengthening industry-linked innovation, and embracing entrepreneurship — were important.

He said the three identified areas are essential in taking TVET graduates further in their skills development, innovation and ownership of their careers and businesses.

"The mastery of AI, data and digital technology must become a core competency among graduates, complemented by problem-solving, communication and ethical decision-making skills.

TANJONG MALIM, Sept 24 (Bernama) -- Roas Noah Zachery, 22, an Orang Asli graduate with a Diploma in Geomatics from Politeknik Ungku Omar (PUO), has proven that Technical and Vocational Education and Training (TVET) can serve as a platform for youths to develop their potential without sidelining their cultural roots and identity.

The eldest child in his family completed his studies with a Cumulative Grade Point Average (CGPA) of 2.97, while also being active in traditional music arts, which afforded him the opportunity to perform both domestically and internationally.

Roas Noah once performed as a traditional musician at the 2025 Malaysia Festival in Sydney, Australia, besides participating in Sape Camp 3.0 organised by the Sarawak Unity Foundation (YPS) and being entrusted as one of the YPS Sape Ambassadors.

He has also been involved in several music performances, including at Bulatan Amanjaya, Meru, in conjunction with the 2026 New Year celebration, as well as the UiTM Traditional Orchestra (UTO) Debut Concert at UiTM Shah Alam.

"My passion is to uplift the Orang Asli identity among Gen Z youths and preserve cultural treasures so they do not fade away," he said when met at the first session of the Central Zone Polytechnic and Community College (POLYCC) Convocation here today.

His love for the arts is also inherited from his father, who is an Orang Asli arts practitioner and works as a photographer at PUO.

His talent shone during the ceremony when Roas Noah and his father performed traditional music by playing the pensol (nose flute) during an interlude session of the convocation.

In his field of study, Roas Noah equipped himself with skills in Geomatics, including Engineering Surveying, Hydrography, Geodesy, Remote Sensing, Geographic Information Systems (GIS), and Photogrammetry, alongside mastering AutoCAD, QGIS, and GNSS software.

(Tanjung Malim, 24th) Deputy Prime Minister and Minister of Rural and Regional Development Datuk Seri Ahmad Zahid Hamidi outlined three key points for the future direction of vocational and technical education graduates: mastering artificial intelligence (AI) and digital technologies, deepening practical innovation with industry, and paving the way for entrepreneurship, moving from "Made in Malaysia" to "Created in Malaysia".

Ahmad Zahid stated that under the TVET 2.0 policy, the demand for skills in high-value fields such as artificial intelligence, automation, semiconductors, and renewable energy is increasing rapidly.

Speaking at the 2026 graduation ceremony for polytechnics and community colleges in the Central Region at Sultan Idris Education University (UPSI) today, he said that Malaysia' s goal is to attract at least RM500 billion in investment in the first phase by 2030, while training no fewer than 60,000 local engineers and vocational talents and upgrading their skills.

KUALA LUMPUR – Pendidikan dan Latihan Teknikal dan Vokasional (TVET) bukan lagi pilihan kedua, sebaliknya menjadi antara kekuatan utama negara dalam mendepani perkembangan teknologi termasuk kecerdasan buatan (AI), automasi, semikonduktor dan tenaga boleh baharu.

Timbalan Perdana Menteri, Datuk Seri Dr Ahmad Zahid Hamidi berkata, graduan TVET perlu melangkah lebih jauh bukan sahaja sebagai tenaga mahir, malah pencipta, inovator dan usahawan yang mampu menghasilkan produk bertaraf dunia.

> "Teruja saya apabila dapat berdiri di hadapan anak-anak muda yang akan melangkah keluar sebagai tenaga mahir, pencipta idea dan bakal pemimpin industri negara," katanya menerusi hantaran di Facebook.

Menurutnya, negara mahu melihat lebih ramai anak muda TVET menghasilkan produk yang boleh dibanggakan sebagai hasil ciptaan rakyat Malaysia atau 'Made by Malaysian'. Dapatkan Peta Dunia
