DAP leader says the rural and regional development ministry's spending from 2023 to 2025 accumulated RM2.1 billion in over-expenditure.

DAP adviser Lim Guan Eng said deputy prime minister Ahmad Zahid Hamidi should face action for allowing his rural and regional development ministry's expenditure to exceed approved allocations.

PETALING JAYA: DAP adviser Lim Guan Eng has urged the Malaysian Anti-Corruption Commission (MACC) to investigate the purported over-expenditure of the rural and regional development ministry helmed by deputy prime minister Ahmad Zahid Hamidi.

Lim said this was similar to how the Universiti Teknologi Mara (UiTM) management approved a RM260 million injection into UiTM Holdings Sdn Bhd without the finance minister's approval, as revealed by the Public Accounts Committee.

MACC is currently probing UiTM Holdings' 2023 losses.

PETALING JAYA: Ahmad Zahid Hamidi's political secretary today denied Lim Guan Eng's claim that the rural and regional development ministry had overspent, saying the allegations were made in bad faith.

Razlan Rafii questioned how Lim, a former finance minister, arrived at the RM2.1 billion figure that the ministry had allegedly overspent.

"Did he pluck the figure from a previous statement by the Treasury secretary-general? Did he even seek an explanation from the Treasury?" he asked in a statement.

Lim Guan Eng stated that he did attend the dinner, but he did not agree with the claims circulating online regarding the details of the dinner.

In response to online reports that a dinner party held at the Penang Island VIP Building on September 23 involved discussions on the Penang Chief Minister candidate and factional disputes, Democratic Action Party advisor Lim Guan Eng strongly refuted the rumors as "inaccurate reporting" and stated that he would refuse to comment further to avoid complicating matters.

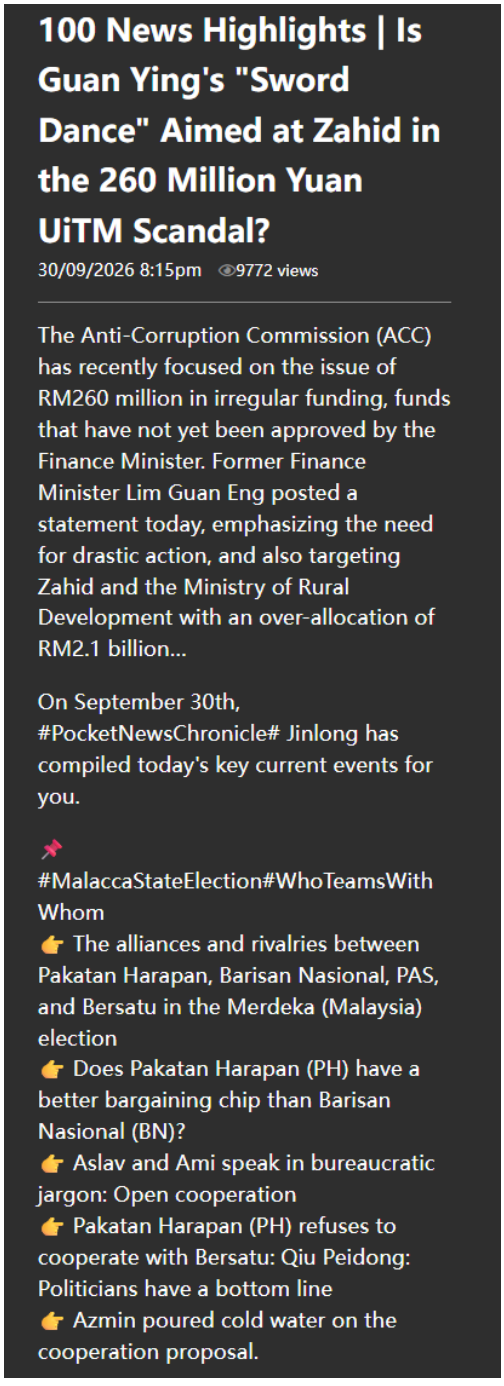

When asked by reporters on Wednesday after handing over a RM19,000 grant to five community organizations at his Member of Parliament's service center, Lim Guan Eng said that he had attended many so-called gatherings and dinners, and therefore declined to comment on the online rumors about the dinner.

He said he would not respond to inaccurate reports, emphasizing that he attends many gatherings and therefore did not want to respond to incorrect reports. He pointed out that he did attend dinner parties, but did not agree with the claims circulating online regarding the content of those parties.

TAJUK	Jabatan terlebih belanja RM2.1 bilion dalam tempoh tiga tahun, Lim Guan Eng gesa SPRM siasat Zahid
PAUTAN	https://tinyurl.com/49uxafsx

Lim Guan Eng urged the Anti-Corruption Commission's Zazahid to address the RM2.1 billion overspending by his department over three years.

(Butterworth, 30th) Bagan MP Lim Guan Eng said the Anti-Corruption Commission should take action against Deputy Prime Minister Ahmad Zahid because his Ministry of Rural and Regional Development has exceeded its approved budget by as much as RM2.1 billion, in order to prevent other ministries from making similar mistakes that could damage the national treasury and the stability of national finances.

He believes this should be consistent with the Anti-Corruption Commission's action against the management of Universiti Teknologi MARA (UiTM) for injecting nearly RM260 million into UiTM Holdings without the Finance Minister's approval.

In a statement today, he said that the Ministry of Finance had previously indicated that the Ministry of Rural Affairs' expenditure in 2023 was RM1.8 billion, compared to an approved allocation of only RM1.1 billion; expenditure in 2024 was RM2 billion, with an approved allocation of RM1.3 billion; and by 2025, the ministry's expenditure was RM2.3 billion, with an approved allocation of RM1.6 billion.

"During Ahmad Zahid's tenure as head of the Rural Development Ministry, from 2023 to 2025, the ministry's expenditures exceeded its approved allocations by a total of RM2.1 billion. RM2.1 billion is no small sum, and this problem did not occur before 2023. Ahmad Zahid 's actions are irresponsible because they violate existing financial procedures and regulations and could lead to enforcement action under relevant laws."

He said that if the Anti-Corruption Commission does not take action against Ahmad Zahid and the Rural Affairs Department because of his high position, it would be extremely unfair to UiTM, as it would mean that the law is not being enforced equally.

He emphasized that the Anti-Corruption Commission must take swift and severe action against the Rural Division and Ahmad Zahid to avoid being seen as conducting selective investigations and applying double standards.

KOTA SAMARAHAN: Upgrading basic infrastructure, particularly road access and processing facilities, is crucial to unlocking the pineapple production potential of Kampung Sungai Mata and ensuring smoother transportation of its agricultural produce to market.

Deputy Minister of Rural and Regional Development Datuk Rubiah Wang said better infrastructure is essential to ensure agricultural activities could be carried out more efficiently while supporting the movement of farmers and their produce.

"We want to see the situation on the ground for ourselves, not only in terms of pineapple production but also the facilities required by the farmers.

"Farm roads and processing facilities are among the important aspects that can help improve efficiency and enhance the potential of the agricultural sector in this area," she said when leading a site visit to the Kampung Sungai Mata Pineapple Farm here on Tuesday (Sept 29).

During the visit, Rubiah, who is also Kota Samarahan MP, inspected the pineapple processing facilities, part of Jalan Pospek Sungai Mata, as well as the Sungai Mata Farm Road project to assess the current conditions and needs of the agricultural area.

She said better road access would not only facilitate the transportation of pineapples but also support the economic activities of local residents who depend on the agricultural sector.

"When access to the farm areas is improved, the movement of agricultural produce becomes easier.

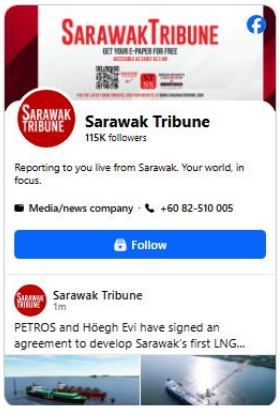

"This can indirectly help reduce the constraints faced by farmers and provide room for agricultural activities to grow," she added.

Rubiah also stressed the importance of a ground-level approach in identifying the needs of rural communities based on actual conditions, particularly facilities directly related to economic activities and the well-being of residents.

FOR many micro-entrepreneurs across the nation, running a business is less about expansion and more about earning a sustainable income to support daily household needs.

With earnings fluctuating day-to-day, income uncertainty remains a defining challenge.

This is why Universiti Kebangsaan Malaysia (UKM) launched Project UMBI under its Institute of Malaysian and International Studies (Ikmas).

The three-year initiative, developed with support from The Coca-Cola Foundation and the Rural and Regional Development Ministry (KKDW), work with micro-entrepreneurs to strengthen business fundamentals and help reduce income volatility over time.

In its first year, 1,400 micro-entrepreneurs across seven zones nationwide participated in the programme, with over 78% achieving consistent profits and household income stability so far.

To commemorate this milestone, UKM organised a special carnival, Karnival UMBI, to showcase and celebrate the progress of participating entrepreneurs, on Sept 19, at Uptown Bangi Gateway in Selangor.

In practice, the programme supports participants with practical guidance and capacity building focused on everyday operations, basic financial awareness and routine planning, intended to help smooth out fluctuations and support more consistent day-to-day income.

KUALA LUMPUR: Majlis Amanah Rakyat (Mara) is targeting RM1bil or more in sales by Bumiputera automotive entrepreneurs next year through efforts to expand their participation and ownership in the sector.

Mara chairman Datuk Dr Asyraf Wajdi Dusuki said the target was based on the agency's current performance, with 534 automotive entrepreneurs recording sales of more than RM660 million this year.

"Of this number, we have offered more than 2,403 job opportunities. If we can drive this agenda together with our strategic partners, we can achieve that target," he said after officiating the pre-launch of Mara Automotive Ecosystem (Matec) 2026 at Busana Mara here today.

Matec 2026 is scheduled to be held in Bukit Jalil from Nov 27 to 29.

The event is a strategic platform to build connections, create opportunities and strengthen an ecosystem linking entrepreneurs, industry, technical and vocational education and training (TVET), technology, talent, financial institutions, government agencies and the market.

Asyraf said efforts to expand Bumiputera participation and ownership in the automotive sector should go beyond producing skilled workers to developing them into entrepreneurs and business owners.

AS if there are not enough things to worry parents of school-going children, the subject of school bullies is among the most vexing they have to confront.

If there is one thing that will give parents ease of mind when sending their children to school, it is the certainty that bullies are yesterday's problem.

Unfortunately, it is not, especially in boarding schools.

But parents have received a welcome double dose of good news, firstly, with the latest government pronouncement that closed-circuit television (CCTV) camera coverage will be extended to 333 boarding schools this year, thus ensuring 24-hour monitoring and surveillance against violence perpetrated by students on their peers.

The additional good news is that former military personnel will be hired as full-time wardens in all 58 Mara Junior Science Colleges (MRSM) from next year to curb bullying and other discipline issues in college hostels.

This follows from the success of a pilot project at MRSM Besut and MRSM Balik Pulau, where bullying cases dropped to nearly zero after former military personnel were deployed.

(Kuala Lumpur, March 30) Despite previous statements from leaders of Pakatan Harapan's Amanah party indicating they would not cooperate with Barisan Nasional (BN) in the Malacca state election, UMNO Secretary-General Datuk Asyraf said that BN remains open to cooperation between the two parties in the Malacca state election.

He said that although he could not force Pakatan Harapan to agree to an alliance, Barisan Nasional's door was always open to all political parties, and they welcomed cooperation in the state election.

Ashraf, after launching the MARA Automotive Ecosystem 2026 (MATEC 2026) at the MARA Building today, stated that if the other party is unwilling to cooperate, that is their right, and Barisan Nasional (BN) cannot force them. However, BN's door remains open.
